

Woolhampton CE Primary School Newsletter

10th July 2026

Dear Parents and Carers,

Thank you to all those who came to our very hot sharing afternoon. The children loved celebrating their work with you and it was great to see how proud they were of their achievements. We will be sending some books home at the end of term, but we do have to keep some to share with Ofsted.

The end of the week has been incredibly hot both inside and outside, and today especially has tested us! We have prioritised the safety and comfort of the children, so learning has had to be adapted. Several classes have been taught in the cool of the church. The children have drawn some lovely artwork of the church interior, and on Thursday, Sycamore Class turned the church into a pretend ocean for their science lesson.

Chestnut class have been making the most of water to keep cool. On Thursday, they enjoyed an outdoor reading lesson with their feet in trays of water and today they have been cleaning their chairs (and themselves in some cases!) with lots of water! They are enjoying it so much, they have just asked if they can clean the rest of the chairs in the school.

In Oak Class, the play must go on and the children are busy practising for their performance in just over a week's time. The singing is starting to sound really good!

Next week looks like being very hot again, if anyone has any spare fans that they aren't using during the day, we would be very grateful if we could borrow them as the classrooms are all now exceeding 30 degrees.

I wish you all a lovely weekend,

Mrs Rebecca Cox

Children's Commissions National Survey

For the first time, hundreds of thousands of children will be eligible to vote in the next general election at age 16, the biggest change to the franchise in half a century – yet just one in five children say politicians listen to them.

That's why I'm doing my final survey, The Big Future, to talk to a million children, to listen to them. And to find out about what it's like to be a child today.

I am asking children about the changes they want to see in their communities, their biggest concerns, and their hopes for the future. More than anything, I want to know what they think a good childhood should look like, now and in the future.

How children and young people can take part

Complete The Big Future survey here

The survey is open now. Full URL:

It is crucial that I hear from as many children as possible from every school and college, in every community, across the country. If I do not hear from your children, their experiences, views and aspirations risk being missing when I present the findings of my survey to the Government.

Thank you for helping to ensure that the voices of children and young people at your school are heard before the summer holidays.
